

ALLIED ARTS TO HOST “ART OF CAN” EVENT, FEATURING ART INSPIRED BY THE RED BULL CAN

Canned art has never been so much fun. See for yourself as Allied Arts hosts Red Bull’s “Art of Can” exhibit in Oklahoma City.

Red Bull’s “Art of Can” is a national art show featuring works created by both professional and amateur artists from across the country. In its first showing in Oklahoma, “Art of Can” displays work inspired by or created with the iconic Red Bull can. From Red Bull robots to ball gowns, “Art of Can” is sure to wow spectators with its displays of creative energy.

To celebrate the exhibit’s arrival in Oklahoma City, Allied Arts and Red Bull are hosting a high-energy event on Friday, August 27 from 7 until 11 pm on the new rooftop patio at 1015 N Broadway Avenue. Guests will enjoy a private preview of the unconventional art, gourmet food, beats by DJ Moody and, of course, all-you-can-drink Red Bull.

Tickets are $20 in advance and $25 at the door and are available online or by phone at (405) 278-8944. Visit www.alliedartsokc.com/events for tickets and additional information. All event proceeds will benefit Allied Arts and the 20 arts groups it supports.

The national exhibit has displayed previously in major cities including Dallas, Miami, Chicago and Boston. To learn more about “Art of Can,” visit <http://redbullartofcan.com>.
